STORY CHANGERS: Creation of the Interactive “You tell” VR scenarios

January 2023

The Story changers project is happy to announce that “You Tell” VR scenarios in English and other languages have been completed. Our partner Omega developed the VR scenarios in close cooperation with the partners who composed the stories as well as the project coordinator. Each scenario has approximately the same duration with the live storytelling performance of the “You Tell” stories. This output, apart from being innovative, is also sustainable as it constitutes a tool which will be freely available on the project’s website for any interested part wishing to use.

At this stage we would also like to inform schools that do not have access to VR equipment that the output is also available as windows application (3D apps using the mouse as the main controller) The scenarios are available in English and in all the languages of the consortium.

In its opinion of October 10th, 2018, the Committee on Industry, Research and Energy of the European Parliament underlined that “in a context of rapid digital and societal transformation, the education system should support, from an early age and throughout life, a balanced set of skills and competences boosting individuals’ resilience, critical thinking, well-being, and innovation potential”

Story Changers, through this specific intellectual output aimed at addressing this very challenge, that is, to enhance young pupils’ social skills by “building a bridge” between storytelling and virtual reality, and by integrating such notions into a curriculum adapted to the primary education system. Storytelling, is in fact seen as a compelling tool to enable young students to develop a set of skills that will support and enrich their way towards adolescence and adulthood.
